

Is the Shift Upon Us?

The Mayan Calendar ends December 21, 2012. Beyond that there is nothing but mystery... at least for the Mayans. Whether the world will end then or not, the fact is we're already experiencing a cataclysmic shuddering in our economic and societal foundations. Globally article after article has pointed to the crumbling clay feet of the world's greatest Superpower. Yes, the Great Shift is upon us whether we're ready for it or not.

This blog and this entire website are about helping people and organizations learn to think differently in order to create the circumstances they most desire; including desires for prosperity and profitability. But given human nature we won't change our mind-set until something blows up in our faces and forces us to change – much like the economic meltdown of the last few months. As someone said, the Shift has to hit the fan before we'll wake up.

Or maybe there is more openness than we've imagined. My sense is that many individuals and organizations are casting about for a new perspective. What we've counted on forever isn't relevant any more. Elsewhere on this site I've described three levels on which organizations can operate:

1. The Mechanistic level made up of Imitators
2. The Visionary level made up of Innovators
3. The Quantum or Infinite Possibilities level made up of the Inspired Ones who see a whole new world of opportunity opening up.

Most people have been raised in the command and control Mechanistic mode and they're tired of feeling like clogs in a machine. Others have been blessed to be part of a Visionary experience where they've had the chance to be more of who they are. Neither experience is satisfying any more.

Both groups know that somewhere somehow there's another way. A way to understand how the universe works. A way to see and access our unlimited ability to harness the creative energy within and around us. A way to move mountains.

What has surprised me as I've begun to help businesses start their own Infinite Possibilities Initiatives is how many people admit to believing that there's a power and approach that we've not tapped into yet in corporate America. They're reading quantum literature from Chopra, Braden, Hawkins, Taggart, Wilbur, Lipton and others. In a 'coming-out-of-the-closet' kind of way they want to talk about a new way to live and work; a new unlimited source of energy that will light a whole new world.

So the question is: Do you sense something shifting in you and those around you? And if so, what do you think is going on?
